Weaving a Carpet of Wisdom

Wisdom is a common thread within all faiths.

'Everybody born comes from the Creator trailing wisps of glory.' *Maya Angelou

Women and girls of different faiths are invited to join together to share their wisdom, to have creative conversations and to have fun!

Between September 2014 and February 2015 new and existing groups are invited to make beautiful rugs which will be combined to make a travelling exhibition known as 'Weaving Women's Wisdom'.

During this creative process, groups are encouraged to have conversations around wisdom, remember wise women that have influenced their lives and faith, share important stories from tradition and scriptures and to reflect on the wisdom that they have both experienced and shared. These conversations will inspire the rug's design. The rug canvas and starter kit will be provided by Touchstone and additional colourful materials such as ribbon, fabric, beads or buttons, can be added from the group's own resources. Imagination more important than expertise!

The purpose of this project is to enable women and girls to have safe space to share their stories, to honour their innate wisdom and to form honest and joyful interfaith friendships. Feel inspired already?
